

Annyssa Bellal

Annyssa Bellal holds a Ph.D in International Relations (specialisation in Public International Law) from the Graduate Institute of International Relations in Geneva (GIIS), a Masters Degree (LLM) in History and Philosophy of Law from the University Pierre Mendès France in Grenoble, a Masters Degree in International Relations from GIIS and a double Bachelor in Law and International Relations from the Law faculty of the University of Geneva and the GIIS. She was also research assistant within the Centre of legislative study, techniques and evaluation of the University of Geneva, visiting scholar at New York University Law School and legal officer for the Public Directorate of International Law of the Swiss Foreign Affairs Department.

At the Academy, she is now senior researcher on the RULAC Project on the implementation of the Rule of Law in Armed Conflicts situations.

Publications

Immunités et violations graves des droits humains ? Vers une évolution du droit international public ?, Bruxelles, Bruylant, (to be published 2009).

« The Concept of Combattant Under International Humanitarian law », with Vincent Chetail, in Chowdhury, A.R. (ed), An Introduction to International Humanitarian Law, (to be published 2009).

« Les armes à sous-munitions en droit international humanitaire », with Stuart Casey-Maslen, in Chetail, Vincent (ed), Permanence et mutations du droit des conflits armés, (to be published 2009)